COUNTERFEIT DOLLARS AND THE DIES FOUND IN THEIR POSSESSION.

One of the Prisoners Is a Carpenter and the Other a Photographer—The Spur-tous Coins Are Excellent Imitations

A nest of counterfeiters was unearthed by the Federal authorities early this morn-ing at the home of Charles E. Davis, up in Lowel, in the extreme north end of the city. Two of the counterfeiters were cap-tured, and several spurious dollars and the molds used to make them were secured as moids used to make them were secured as evidence.

For some time past a quantity of counterfeit money has been circulating in North St. Louis. Secret Service Operator J. E. Murphy set out to learn the sources from which this spurious coin came. He traced it to a small three-room frame house near the river, facing the Wabash tracks, between Gano and East Grand avenue. He learned that Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis and a man named Frank Russell resided there, and he had one of his men secure a search warrant from United States Commissioner Gray. Armed with this he decided to raid the place early this morning. He rose long before breakfast time this morning, and taking the first down-town car arrived at the Federal Building at 5:30. There he was joined by United States Marshal John E. Lynch, Chief Deputy Noll and Deputy Marshals Quayle and Fitzpatrick, who had also risen early. They took a car and arrived at Davis' home about 6 o'clock. They rapped at the door, and Mrs. Davis, who had just arisen, admitted them.

Mrs. Devis, who had just arisen, admitted them.

CAUGHT IN BED.

Noll and Fitzpatrick found Davis and Russell in bed, hustled them into their clothes, handcuffed them and marched them down to the Federal Building.

Operative urphy and Marshals Lynch and Quayle remained to search the place. They found two plaster paris molds for making silver dollars, and in a pair of trousers belonging to Russell they located five counterfeit dollars, which had evidently been just made last night.

They also found a package of white powder like substance used for making the plaster paris molds and a quantity of the metal used in making the phony dollars. Mr. Murphy carried the stuff back to his office for evidence.

THE PRISONERS.

The PRISONERS.

The prisoners are not much alike. Davis is a heavy-set man, apparently about 40 years old. He has a blonde mustache and his head is encased in a huge bandage, evidently the effect of a fight in some North St. Louis saloon a few nights ago. Davis says he is a carpenter. Russell is a young man, apparently not more than 21, with a very slight mustache and is rather nicelooking. He says he is a photographer. Both men refuse to dis cuss their case. All Russell would say was that his name was Smith.

Dr. Pope, a Detroit Dentist, Was Killed by His Wife's Nurse.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 2.—Dr. Horace E. Pope, a dentist, with an office and residence on Michigan avenue, was killed this morning by William Brusseau, Mrs. Pope's nurse. According to the story told by Brusseau, he found Dr. Pope sitting on his wife's bed holding a cloth saturated with choloroform over her mouth. When Brusseau entered the room the doctor fired at him, but missed. The nurse seized a hatchet and buried it into the skuil of the man.

Unlawful relations between Brusseau and Mrs. Pope are said to have been the cause of frequent and bitter quarrels between the Pope's, and the police believe this led to the murder.

The Cry When Miss Beuckner | Landlord Carpenter Must Pay Caught a Boat Oar.

STORY OF THE ONLY WOMAN RESCUED FROM THE SHIP.

Emperor William Displeased That Only One Woman Should Be Saved-The Crathie Officers, Judicially Examine Claim They Did Not Know They Sank a Vessel-A Sad Story Concerning One of the Lost Passengers.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Miss Anna Buckner, the only woman saved from the North German Lloyd steamship Elbe, in an interview added the following to a statement she already made about the disaster. Miss Buckner says that when the first boat capsized she swam until she caught one of the oars of the other boat, which had been launched, and then somebody on board the latter craft shouted: "Push her off." She also says they tried to push her off, but she held on so firmly to the oar that she was finally pulled on board.

Continuing, Miss Buckner says that the officers of the Elbe miscalculated the time that the steamer could keep afloat.

The skipper of the fishing smack Competition, which has arrived at Lowestoft, has reported that in addition to a mail bag, he saw near the scene of the collision a quantity of wreckage, apparently from a big steamer, and he picked up a platform used for painting ships' sides.

Messrs. Hoffman, Schiegel and Vever, survivors of the Elbe disaster, sail for New York to-day from Liverpool on board the Cunard steamship Umbria.

The German Consulate has received a message from Emperor William, in which the latter is said to have expressed surprise and displeasure at the fact that only one woman was rescued from among the passengers of the Elbe.

FRATHIE OFFICERS EXAMINED.

ROTTERDAM, Feb. 1.—Captain Gordon, master of the Crathie, the steamer which is alleged to have sunk the Elbe, the man who was at the wheel of the first named steamer when the collision occurred, and the members of the crew of that ship who were on deck at the time of the accident, have been examined judically and they have all affirmed that they did not see the vessel with which the Crathie collided. They add that they did not see a vessel sink and that they did not hear any cries of distress.

A SAN JOSE RESIDENT.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Feb. 2.—Philip Mischler, aged 37 years, a resident of San Jose, was a steerage passenger on the steamer Elbe that was sunk in the North Sea Wednesday. Mischler came to this country from Germany, and was foreman on the Long Hill vineyard. He left here in November last to visit his mother and two brothers in Germany.

A SAD CASE.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 2.—Ernest Kumpf, one of the lost passengers on the Elbe, is a son of an aged and feeble cabinet maker living near Westport. Kumpf, Sr., came to America in 1876. He was injured several years ago and has since earned a meager living by cutting grass in summer and doing chores in winter. Cent by cent he managed to gather a small fund which he placed in the hands of the North German Lloyd steamship agent in this city to bring his son across the water. A few days ago the fund was complete and the son was started over our the ill-fated Elbe. The old man does not know that his son is dead. It is feared the shock will kill him.

NEWS IN LONDON.

The Arrest Telegraphed Queen Victoria and Guardian Davis.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The news of the armies of ex-Queen Lilluokalani, published in London this afternoon, created quite a sensation. The facts in the case were telegraphed to uQeen Victoria, who is at Osborne, and to Mr. Theophilus Davis, at Liverpool. Mr. Davis is the guardian of Princess Kalluani of Hawali, helress presemptive to the throne. He is also the agent in England of ex-Queen Lilluokalani. Mrs. Davis, it appears, had also received a telegram via Auckland, N. Z., announcing the arrest of the ex-Queen. It is oxpected the latter's friends here and elsewhere will make diplomatic representations to Great Britain and the United States to secure her release.

The Hawalian consul in this city has received no news in regard to the resolution by the United States House of Representatives asking President Cleveland to submit to Congress any correspondence in possession of the State Department regarding the reports alleging that British subjects incited the Hawalians to rebellion and supplied them with arms and that the British minister Intervened to prevent the application of martial law to British subjects who had been engaged in the rebellion.

In this connection the Associated Press is officially informed that there has been no correspondence between the British and American consults on the subject of the charges that British subjects in Hawaii had incited the Hawaiian revolt and had supplied the rebels with arms. The fact is, it is added, as has already been stated in the House of Representatives at Washington, that President Cleveland is satisfied that the action taken by the British residents of Honolulu in this matter was quite justified under the circumstances. Nothing is known here in regard to the charges made against the British residents at Honolulu of supplying arms to the rebels, and it is said that if such a thing did occur it would be for the Hawaiian authorities to put a stop to it.

$2,500 for One He Stole.

of Mrs. Sarah Pierce.

ANOTHER WOMAN SAW HIM DO IT AND TESTIFIED IN COURT.

Case Was Tried in the Circuit Court at Clayton-Jury Promptly Returned a Verdict in Favor of the Fair Plaintiff-Another Damage Suit.

In the eyes of the law, when A. B. Car penter stole an unwilling kiss from Mrs Sarah M. Pierce he committed an assaul upon her, and by the hand of the law, for his ungallant doing, he will be obliged to pay her as a balm for her wounded honor $2,500. This seems a large sum of money to part with for the pleasure of just one kiss, specially when it is remembered that these favors may be obtained gratis if sought after in the proper manner, but Mr. Carpen ter was injudicious. He grabbed it from on unsmitten with his charms, one whose kisser have mulcted him right seriously.

The offense for which Mr. Carpenter wil The offense for which Mr. Carpenter will now have to pay so dearly occurred on Aug. 2, 1892, and the legal proceedings arising from it have been dragging along ever since. After listening to all the evidence, a jury in the St. Louis County Circuit Court returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $2,500, just half the sum asked for. The case was a most stubbornly contested one. It had been tried once before and resulted in a hung jury. This time Lawyer Edmond A. B. Garesche had his case in better shape. He was opposed by Marshall F. McDonald and R. Lee Mudd, but he succeeded in securing a verdict for his fair and indignant client.

and R. Lee Mudd, but he succeeded in securing a verdict for his fair and indignant client.

The story of this legal assault as it developed from the plaintiff's witnesses—and it must be true, for the jury believed it—was this:

Mrs. Sarsh M. Pierce, a married woman, was living in August, Ecc. at 1410 Sulphuravenue in Cheltenham, a suburb of St. Louis. The house had been built by A. B. Carpenter, a well known and well-to-do builder in that part of the city, from whom Mrs. Pierce and her husband had purchased their place. There were other houses thereabouts owned by Carpenter, and for these Mrs. Pierce was acting to a certain extent as agent.

On the morning of Aug. 2 Mrs. Pierce started for Ellendale, where Carpenter lived, to see him in connection with one of the houses. She met him on the journey and he told her to return; that he would call during the morning and see her.

This he did. Mr. Pierce was away at work, so that the two were left alone in the house. They fell to talking about building a partition in one of the bed rooms of the Pierce house, and Mrs. Pierce went into the room to more easily explain her views on the matter. Carpenter, following behind her, suddenly put his arm about her walst and smacked her on the lips.

Mrs. Pierce, being a most proper married the matter. Carpenter, following behind her, suddenly put his arm about her waist and smacked her on the lips.

Mrs. Pierce, being a most proper married woman, immediately began to weep and her amorous caller fied in confusion. When Mr. Pierce got home at night he found his wife still weeping, and upon learning the cause he drove over to Carpenter's house and demanded that he apologize, but Carpenter declared that he had nothing to apologize for, and refused to do it.

At first the Pierces thought it best to say nothing about the matter for fear of a scandal, but another factor entered the case and changed their plans. It seems that a Mrs. Smith, who lives near by, had started over that morning to make a neighborly call. She was coming along the back pathway and, chancing to look up, saw through the window Carpenter's face pressed close to Mrs. Pierce's. Mrs. Smith was unutterably shocked, but as her neighbor made no outcry she wasn't exactly sure of what she ought to do in the premises, so she went back home and told her husband what she had seen.

Of course, it wasn't long before everybody back home and told her husband what she had seen.

Of course, it wasn't long before everybody in Cheltenham knew that Carpenter, the builder, had kissed Pierce's wife and the tongue of gossip wagged furiously. As the builder still refused to apologies, Mrs. Smith therefore entered suit against him to protect her good name.

The case occupied two whole days of the court's time and the evidence was gone into exhaustively. Photographs of the back window through which Mrs. Smith had seen the $2,500 kiss were introduced by the plaintiff to show that it was possible to have seen from Mrs. Smith's point of view. Mrs. Smith told her story with extended details as to her state of mind when she found Mrs. Pierce in so compromising a position. The defense fought hard, but the woman finally

A LIMITED DIVORCE AND MAINTENANCE WANTED BY THE WIFE.

The Plaintiff Was Miss Shelden of St. Louis and the Defendant, Emmet Phillips, Is the Son of a Kansas City Judge.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.-An action for lim-NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—An action for limited divorce has been comenced in the Supreme Court by Mrs. Jennie S. Phillips against Emmet Phillips, who is a son of Judge John F. Phillips of Kansas City, and is an attorney of the Western Union Telegraph Co. Mrs. Phillips is the daughter of L. F. Shelden of St. Louis, who is Superintendent of Telegraph of the Missouri Pacific Rallway. She is il years old and has been married fourteen years.

dent of Telegraph of the Missouri Pacific Railway. She is il years old and has been married fourteen years.

According to the complaint which has been served, the couple were married in Sedalia, Mo., in 1881, and moved to this city in 1887. Soon after the marriage Pfillips began a course of "unkind, harsh and tyrannical conduct" towards his wife, which was continued with only slight intermissions until she finally separated from him Line months ago.

Mrs. Phillips says in her petition that on Dec. 15, 1883, at No. 49 West Thirty-fourth street, where they then resided, Phillips in the course of one of his violent outbursts of passion knocked her down, with his fist, and that on May 27, 1894, he again knocked her down, hurting her so seriously that she was taken ill, and was for a time confined to her bed. On the following day she left him, declaring that she would never live with him again. Some three weeks later, says the complaint, he followed her to Bloomington, Ill., where she had rone to visit friends, and "made a deliberate attempt to take her life by drawing a losded pastol and firing the same at her."

Mrs. Phillips is at present stopping at a boarding-house on West Forty-recond street. "I would not say anything for publication," she declared to a reporter last evening, "if I had not already been assailed most unjustly in connection with efforts that I have made to establish myself in business. I never knew what was the cause of Mr. Phillips' treatment of me, except that he seemed to be jealous of the entire world. I de not know that he was jealous of any individual, for he never accused me of any specific impropriety, but he seemed to be enraged at the dee of speaking to any one but him. When I left him last May I was at a less to know what to do, or where to go, but some good friends of mine, parents of one of my school driends, took me home with them to Illinois. It was the home of Mr. Joseph Medill of the Chicago Tribune. La ter I went to Bloomington to see some friends, and while there Mr. Phillips,

I went to Bloomington to see some friends, and while there Mr. Phillips, who had been apprised of my whereabouts by myself, showed up. He came to my friends' house and wanted to see me alone, but I would only see him in their presence. He urged me to return and would not take no for an answer. At length he went away, after making me promise to go to his hotel that evening. My friends were alarmed and would not let me go alone. About 9 o'clock he came to the house again. I saw him, but refused steadily to see him alone, and he suddenly drew the pistol and fired.

"It was one of the sons of the family who struck his arm and probably saved my life. The family wanted me to make a complaint, but I dreaded a scandal. It was the family of Stephen Smith of Bloomington. Mr. Phillips was not arrested, but he was watched closely that night and the next day his father, who had been telegraphed for, came to Bloomington and took him away.

"Later in the year I came to New York, believing that I could establish myself in business. My friends had helped me and I had incorporated a company which I thought I could make successful. I may say, though, that I have not yet succeeded, nor have I sold any stock. I was living at the Grand Hotel then, and he came to see me there on Dec. 10. I consented to go to the theater with him, and after we returned he went into the hotel parior with me and deliberately told me that he would kill me sooner or later. It would surely happen, he said, if I did not return and live with him. I am really apprehensive that he will try it again.

"I' do not dare go back, and I am entirely without means, and am bringing this suit to compel him to provide for my maintenance. I cannot understand his actions. I have been a true wife and have stood by him when he became involved in serious financial trouble. I have helped him time and again with money I have had from my parents."

Mrs. Phillips name appeared in the newspapers a few days ago in connection with the "Mme. Phillips Tollet Preparation Co." It was stated that she was at one time connected with R. B. Ford, who is dead, and who acted as her attorney, and that they were driven from several hotels for non-payment of bills. Mrs. Phillips denies the story in toto, and says that it was inspired by some enemy.

"That I have creditors," said she last night, "is due to the fact that Mr. Phillips has not supported me and I have been forced to enter the business world."

Her name appeared in the list of lost as a resident of New York, but Kuehn thinks this is of New York, but Kuenn thinks this is a mistake, for he has strong reasons for believing she was on the fated ship. He has written to the New York office of the North German Lloyds for what facts the company may have of Louise Kuehn. Kuehn believes that his wife was the Louise Kuehn because a friend of hers, a Mrs. Ufer, living on Thirteenth street, near Russell avenue, received a letter from her nephew in Germany three weeks ago stating that Mrs. Kuehn would start for America in a short time. Mrs. Ufer grew up with Mrs. Kuehn in Kolmar-in-Posen, and Mrs. Ufer's nephew met Mrs. Kuehn on her return to that place last Au-gust.

Kuehn says that his wife's uncle, Mr. Frymark, living near Seventh street and Chouteau avenue, read the list of lost passengers in Thursday's Post-Dispatch, and seeing the name Louise Kuehn hurried to her husband's shop and expressed the fear that the drowned was none other than their own relative. A revolving winter door, which has been placed at the Marketstreet entrance to the Union Station, was placed in operation on Friday, the other doors being locked. Much amusement was occasioned by the people not understanding how to work the door. The door is in four sections, which join in the center, and revolve, and are so arranged that the doorway is always, or nearly always, sheltered from the blast. There is room for only one person to pass through at a time. Two ladies who tried to pass in together became wedged in the section and, for a little while, could go neither way. The last lady was caught by the section behind her, preventing the revolution of the door and detaining the lady in front, while the last lady did not have room to back out. Have a Tendency to Keep the Tough Element to Themselves and Under Police Surveillance-The Excise Con missioner Proud of His Showing.

No forenoon session was held by the committee appointed by the Legislature to investigate Excise Commissioner Bell's office and the liquor license department of Collector Ziegenhein's office. An open session was held by the committee at 2 o'clock p. m. in room 51, Turner building, for the purpose of hearing any suggestions or complaints that might be made by anyone regarding the manner in which either of the above offices are conducted.

One of the first questions asked of Excise Commissioner Bell by the committee was regarding the moral character of the persons to whom he issued saloon licenses, and if he licensed any resorts known as "dives." of hearing any suggestions or complaints and if he licensed any resorts known as "dives."

Commissioner Bell replied that there were several saloons licensed in the city that he supposed came under the above category, but added that licenses had been issued to the persons keeping them only upon the recommendation of the Police Department. He said that Police Commissioner Fruin and Chief Harrigan had consulted with him several times upon the subject and they had come to the conclusion that it was to the advantage of the community to license a certain number of the low order of saloons in the tough districts of the city. Mr. Bell said the police gave as their reasons for wishing these places licensed that they frequently served as a trap to catch thieves and other criminals. Then again saloons of this character were virtually the only homes of a certain class of people, and if these establishments were all closed up these people would be turned loose in the city. While these people are not necessarily all criminals, they are a class which would be most objectionable in the better localities.

For those reasons the police thought that it was better to license a certain number of low class saloons in order that the people who naturally frequent them might be kept together and in that way under con-

For those reasons the police thought that it was better to license a certain number of low class saloons in order that the people who naturally frequent them might be kept together and in that way under constant police surveillance. Mr. Bell added that it was not the duty of his office to inquire into the moral standing of the saloons in the city. That, he said, was the duty of the police, and whenever he had any doubts as to she character of a person who made application for a license, the application was invariably referred to the police, and in no case granted without their sanction.

police, and in no case granted without ther sanction.

When asked in regard to the matter Chief of Police Harrigan fully corroborated the statement, made by Mr. Bell. He said that in his opinion it was decidedly to the advantage of the community to have a certain number of the lower order of the saloons licensed. "These saloons," he said, "are patronized by the lowest element, and are constantly under the espionage of the police. They are virtually the only home many of their frequenters have, and to close up the saloons would be to turn many of that class lose upon the better districts of the city. They are a class of men who are bound to drink at all hassards, and if there were no saloons in town such as they are in the habit of frequenting they would at once drift to establishments of a better class, and if would not take long before thore places would be reduced to the slums.

"As far as dives are concerned." con-before thore places would be reduced to the slums.

"As far as dives are concerned," continued the Chief, "I don't think I understand exactly what that term means. If it means a resort where criminals are harbored, you can say for me that no such place exists in the city. These tough saloons are inspected constantly by the police, and whenever a thief or known criminal is found there, or in fact anywhere else in town, he is arrested and given hours to leave town. If a saloonkeeper should be discovered harboring or concealing a criminal or anyway interfering with a policeman in the discharge of his duty, he would be summarily dealt with."

The committee will begin its investigation

mittee will begin its inve of the liquor license department of Collector Ziegenhein's office at 9 o'clock Monday

FRIDAY'S SESSION The committee spent nearly all day at the office of Commissioner day at the office of Commissioner Bell, who submitted two reports to the committee with remarks upon the conduct of his office. One report was for the fiscal year ending July 3, 1894, and the other was a report for the six months ending Jan. 3, covering the total length of time that Mr. Bell has been in of-fice. These reports show the following fig-censes issued for above period.

In his report to the committee Mr. Bell says:

"The total average collections made by Collector Henry Ziegenhein for city purposes for the four (4) years preceding the establishment of this office were as follows, as will be seen on page 50 of the Comptroller's report for the fiscal years 1890, 1891, 1892 and 1893, inclusive, under the head of the column marked "Dramshops," to-wit: For the years 1890, 1775, 302, 81; 1891, 3800, 141, 64; 1892, 3863, 328, 548, 10, and this at a period the most prospectus in our history."

The commissioner then points with pride to the difference in the showing of the two regimes and closes his report as follows:

"If this is not an evidence of the faithful discharge of the trust confided to me, I must plead obtuseness in not knowing the way from darkness to light. I have sought the enforcement of the law without regard to politics, prejudice or the expenditures of the money receipts as fees to the office. And the statement of disbursemnts herein noted have every cent been expended in the enforcement of the law and the collection of the public revenue; not one dollar of the amount herein stated has been expended for any other purpose whatever, and the increased average receipts of city revenue is an evidence that these expenditures have been judiciously and properly made."

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 2.-An explosi occurred at the Westinghouse Electric Works at Brinton this afternoon. Several are reported to have been killed.

BY INCENDIARIES.

It Is Believed the Cleveland Deaconess Home Was Burned.

CLEVELAND. O., Feb. 2.—Testimony of a startiling nature was given to-day at the Coroner's investigation of the Deaconess Home holocaust, in which four persons lost their lives yesterday. The police have taken charge of the burned building and a search is being made for three men who are supposed to know something about the origin of the fire.

Miss Anna Sommers, acting matron of the Home, testified that an explosion took place preceding the fire, and the entire house was wrapped in flames and smoke almost immediately. She said three men had been loitering around the house for several days. When the fire broke out she rushed to the front door and found these same men in the yard. They paid no attention to her frantic appeals for help in getting out the patients. The explosion was evidently in the basement in or near the furnace, as the registers were blown from their places.

The police are very reticent, but it is evi-their places.

The police are very reticent, but it is evident they are working on the theory that the fire had an incendiary origin. It was shown at the investigation that the burned building was without fire escapes of any kind, in direct violation of the State law. Wm. Allmeier, one of the patients who was burned to death, it was stated, was strapped to his bed when the fire broke out, being under treatment for a broken hip. Minnie Baumer, the brave nurse was endeavoring to unlosen the straps which bound Allmeier when she was overcome by the smoke

THURSTON PLEASED.

Hawaiian Minister on the News From the Islands.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 2.—The latest developments in Hawaii, as contained in the Associated Press' Auckland, New Zealand, dispatches, was agreeable news to Mr. Thurston, the Minister of that country at the capital of the United States.

Concerning the Queen, the Minister said that the latest information he had seen concerning her was that she had gone out to the residence of Nowlin (or Notan), one of the leaders of the revolution. His residence was located on Pearl River, about fifteen miles from the city of Honolulu.

"Now that the Queen has been arrested for complicity in the rebellion, what will the authorities do with her? Will she be banished from the country?" asked the reporter.

banished from the country," asked the reporter.

"That is a matter I do not care to discuss," answered the Minister. "That, in connection with the possible effect of her continued residence in the islands, is a question that will be dealt with by those who have the affairs of the nation entrusted to their care. How can I talk about the possible disposition of the cases of Wilcox and the other leaders of the rebellion?"

The Minister expects fresh advices of affairs at Honolulu upon the arrival of the Australia, which is due at San Francisco in four or five days.

The news of the arrest of the ex-Queen was received with surprise at the State Department, and, although the officials declined to discuss the matter in any aspect, it was plainly to be seen that they had not expected that she would be connected with a revolutionary attempt so badly conceived and executed and promising so little in results. As it is, they fear that she is likely to forfeit whatever property that remains in her possession to the republic, and, in addition, will probably be exiled, to eliminate her entirely as a political factor. There has not, as yet, been any suggestions that the United States Government should interfere in behalf of the ex-Queen, who is now, after the full and formal recognition of the republic, nothing more than an individual and a citizen of Hawaii. If any American citizens are among the persons arrested and to be tried for complicity in the rebellion, then, undoubtedly, Mr. Willis, our Minister, will see to it that they secure a full opportunity to prove their innocence, if they can do so.

Nothwithstanding the ominous significance conveyed by the fact that the trials tunity to prove their innocence, if they can do so.

Nothwithstanding the ominous significance conveyed by the fact that the trials are to be by court-martial, it is not believed here that very severe punisment will be meted out to the persons convicted, except, perhaps, in the cases of actual Hawaiiansfor it is hardly to be conceived that the British and other foreign Ministers at Honolulu could contemplate with equanimity the execution of their fellow-subjects by the process of court-martial.

It is thought that the United States ship Philadelphia is at Honolulu, as she was due there on last Monday.

The President and Receiver Admits to Judge Grosscup Having Dabbled in the Stock Last Tuesday-Connection Attorney Mayer Attempts to Show Between the Whole Clique-The Other Side's Argument.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—Proceedings in the Whisky Trust Bitigation in the United States Court opened with the promise of a sharp battle to-day. Judge Grosscup took the initiative. He evidently intended to find what foundation there was for rumors that the receivers had not been acting in the interests of the property. President Greenhut was called to the stand as soon as court opened. Judge Grosscup said he intended to ask a few questions before the arguments for the removal of the receivership began.

"Did you deal in any Whisky Trust stock Monday or Tuesday?" he asked the witness.

monday or Tuesday? he assect the winness. "Tes," replied Mr. Greenhut.
"Tuesday I bought 3,000 and 4,000 shares on the New York market. I did not sell and have the stock bought then."
Receiver Lawrence, Mr. Greenhut's associate, said he neither bought or sold any stock.

have the stock bought then."
Receiver Lawrence, Mr. Greenhut's associate, said he neither bought or sold any stock.
Attorney Levi Mayer then began his argument on the motion to oust the receivers. In court were present large numbers of persons interested in the proceedings. Among the directors in attendance were Messrs, Greenhut, Beggs, Hobart, Green and Hennessy, Nelson Morris was present and represented by counsel.
While Mr. Mayer was presenting the argument for the protesting stockholders, President Greenhut asked permission to Interrupt and said he was mistaken about the purchase of 3,000 shares of stock having been made on Tuesday. It was on Wednesday, after full publicity had been made of the receivership. To a further question of the court at that time he said he was short, how much he did not know.

Not as much as 15,000 shares, as declared by Mr. Meyer. He had purchased this stock at 3%. The price was a half-point off from the price on the preceding days, and not over one point from the price prevailing the weak previous. He could not remember the price at the time he went short.

Mr. Mayer, for the stockholders' committee. He said that his clients represented 300,000 shares of stock, and, since leaving New York, they had been advised of 19,000 more shares being placed on the list.

Of the application for the receivership Olmstead was a partner in the firm of P. J. Goodhart & Co., New York, brokers, through which Mr. Nelson Morris transacted business. Olmstead was a New York officer of the trust and Wormser was a 1f-year-old boy in the office of Goodhart. The bill was signed by no one of the complainants, but by one of the solicitors, who was a regular paid attorney of the trust. Mr. Burry.

There was $150,000 in the bank to the credit of the trust, and the indebtedness of the trust is not over $5,000 and drew other salaries as managers of distilleries. Besides, President Greenhut, he said which bank had a secured indebtedness of $300,000 against the trust. He knew that Greenhut was interested with Nel the receivership, never held any stock until Monday last, when 500 shares were transferred to him by a New York broker an hour or two before the application. They would prove, cotinued Mr. Mayer, that the directors of the trust did not know of the application or the appointment of the receivers. Mr. Burry then opened the argument for the receivers. He read an affidavit signed by Directors Hobart, Beggs, Greene, Freiberg and Hennessy, in which they reviewed the financial history of the trust, and asserted the need of a receiver, and requested the court to retain Mr. Greenhut because of his intimate knowledge of the affairs of the company. The affidavit attributed the failure to secure funds to pay taxes on spirits last month when the increase of 30 cents a gallon went into effect, crippling the financial condition of the company.

After hearing the arguments of the counsel for the trust, the Court reserved decision until Monday.

He acknowledged that on their face the returns submitted to the Recorder of Voters elected Mr. Jamison by 322 votes, and he said he would not contest. A commission was then issued to Mr. Jamison. It is believed that the Governor will not reject the commission on the evidence which was presented by Commissioner Evans.

Bremermann made a signed statement which will go in as part of the evidence. This practically ends the most flagrant election outrage Kansas City had ever known.

This practically ends the most flagrant election outrage Kansas, City had ever known.

The tally sheets were tampered with between Saturday night and Sunday morning following the election while they were supposed to be locked up in the vault of the Recorder of Voters.

Who forged the returns has never been learned, and probably never will be. A change sufficient to elect Bremermann by 20 votes was made in the two wards mentioned. At the time Sloan, the Republican candidate for County Marshal, who had been elected by a plurality of 7 votes, was by the forged returns defeated by Joseph B. Keshlear by 23 votes.

Two Justices of the Peace, one a Democrat and another a Republican, certified to the falisfied returns which were transmitted to the oGvernor. It was the work of the gang that, to retain its hold, needed the County Marshal and the County Prosecutor. Bremermann and Keshlear were in haste to get into the offices and induced County Clerk Caldwell to make out the commissions at night and telegraphed for the Governor's consent to their being given to Bremermann and Keshlear. But the fraud was discovered and the matter was carried into the courts. Jamison met reverse after reverse, notwithstanding the fact that Gov. Stone and others, the Reporter of Voters himself, had admitted the forgeries.

Mr. Armstein: "There is no objection to extending the time."

Mr. John Scullin: "I am not opposed to the fender bill, but, on the contrary, I am in favor of it. We are more anxious than the public to prevent loss of life. But a measure of this sort should be framed with some leeway, so that a reasonable time should be allowed for the adoption of a satisfactory fender. I have put eleven devices on the Union Depot lines."

Mr. Gast inquired as to the efficiency of automatic brakes, and Mr. Scullin said he had tried electric and air brakes and found them unreliable. Hand brakes were the only kind for street railways. Mr. Nagel, President of the Council, who was a close listener, said that the steam railways had perfected air brakes, and Mr. Scullin replied that street railway cars stop so often the valves do not have time to refill with air and become worn.

that street railway cars stop so often the valves do not have time to refill with air and become worn.

Mr. Gast: "Do you think that a fender is the best means for saving life?"

Mr. Scullin: "Yes; it is the best way that I see at the present time."

Capt. McCullough said the railway companies are adopting long cars and dispensing with trailers, and these long cars would have to be equipped with a fender at each end. The fender at the rear end would be an extra temptation to boys to steal rides.

Mr. Baumhoff, when called upon, said: "The Lindell Railway is in favor of this measure, but L think that the fender which we have on all our cars to-day is sufficient. It is a "shove-away" fender and has saved many lives and will save everyone from the wheels except small children, who may go under or over the fender."

Mr. Baumhoff, told of the miraculous es-

Mr. Baumhoff told of the miraculous escape of a man who was saved by one of these wonderful shove-offs on a Broadway cable car just as he (Mr. Baumhoff) was on his way to the committee meeting. He stated, also, that the Lindell Railway had paid as much as $250 for the exclusive right to make and use a fender which was fixed rigidly to the body of a car, and one day the fender struck a displaced paving stone and the motorman was almost thrown over the dash. "A word about the fender on the Sixth street line," said Mr. Baumhoff, suavely. "I do not want to disparage that fender or any other, but no fender will do the work required if it is carried all the time the work required if it is carried all the time at the same height.

"The danger is in passing a bill which empowers the Board of Public Improvements or other public officers to pass upon the fenders offered. The railroads may use a fender not acceptable to the public officers and that fact might be used against us in litigation. But I am satisfied that public officers will not adopt a fender which is not a life-saving device and which the roads cannot consistently use. We want some fender legislation, so that the matter may be settled at once. I merely wish to give you my experience in order to aid you in the work."

my experience in order to aid you in the work."

Capt. McCullough was given the floor again and he said he had examined carefully the report of the Sixth street electric rail-way's experience with fenders and the saving of lives that resulted. He compared this record with the accident record of the Broadway cable line. He took into consideration the alleged fact that 100 people crossed Broadway to the one that crosses Sixth street, and the further alleged fact that the Broadway line made many more trips than the Sixth street line. The result of this comparison was that the Broadway line had fewer accidents than the Sixth street—according to Capt. McCullough. The bill was amended so as to provide that the railway companies shall equip their cars with a fender or guard "extending in front of the platform."

Suggestions Are Received by the Pests D.spatch From Suburbanites.

ALL HAVE IDEAS AS TO HOW THE TRAIN SERVICE COULD BE IMPROVED.

ma of the Plans Proposed by People Living Out on the Missouri Pacific and Prisco Boads — Down Town

Not a day passes now that the Post-Dispatch is not in receipt of one or more communications from people living in the suburbs offering suggestions as to how the train service in and out of St. Louis might and ought to be improved. The suggestions cover the entire range of possibilities; from more and faster trains to additional tracks and a station nearer the center than is the and a station nearer the center than is the subject is one that receives much attention at the hands of the suburbanites, and several drawings have been received by the is placed at Seventh street and Clark avis placed at seventh street and class a most convenient thing for people living in the suburbs and would save them many a nickel, if the passenger service in and out of the city was what it should be they could get along very comfortably with the Union get along very comfortably with the Union Station.

Most of the communications suggest means for improving the train service. On the Missouri Pacific the plan suggested by the Post-Dispatch, that the Washington accommodation leave at 3 instead of 5:25 p. m. and that the 6:20 Kirkwood express run through to Pacific, meets with general approval. Communications from people living out on the Frisco ask that the 5:25 p. m. train to Pacific leave from an hour to two hours earlier. People living at the small stations out on the Burlington and the Wabash are asking for trains to leave St. Louis at an earlier hour, while from along nearly every road running East come communications suggesting earlier trains out in the afternoon and later trains in in the morning.

THE PUBLIC AROUSED. THE PUBLIC AROUSED.

Many of these communications are quite engthy and go into details, so that to publish the full list would be impossible, but the very fact that people take the trouble to propose these plans for bettering the service, so that people can get in and out of the city, shows that the public is aroused to the need of improvement in this particular. It shows that the public appreciates the fact that the train service is poor and that it should be improved. Of course, each town would like to see the change made for the best possible accommodation of that particular town, but all make the main feature a betterment of the service in and out of St. Louis.

St. Louis is the metropolis of the Southwest and it will always be so in spite of the fact that the railroads seem to do all they can to make it appear otherwise. For hundreds, yes thousands of miles, people draw their supplies from and through St. Louis within a radius of 100 miles people speak of St. Louis as "the city." When they say they are going to "the city." When they say they are going to "the city." When they say they are going to "the city." They very fact that they speak of St. Louis. The very fact that they speak of St. Louis in this familiar way shows the closeness they feel toward it. They depend upon its markets and shops for everything they need, and take almost as much pride in its prosperity as do the citizens themselves.

MIGHT BE CLOSER. But the relations between St. Louis, her merchants and people with the dwellers of the smaller surrounding towns might cation between St. Louis and the near-by towns were better the relations could be made so close that these towns and the people living therein would be almost a part and parcel of the city. Such a relation would mean thousands of dollars annually into the pockets of the railroads. It would increase the commercial importance of St. Louis and would give the railroads not only more people to carry, but would increase their freight receipts. This close relationship would be a mutual benefit to all partles concerned.

The first step toward making communication between St. Louis and the surrounding towns more perfect and more satisfactory is the putting on of early afternoon trains out of St. Louis, which will permit people to leave "the city" in time to get home for supper. A service early enough to allow people to leave before they become tired cation between St. Louis and the near-by

MUNICIPAL ASSEMBLY.

Report of the Tower Grove Park Com missioners.

At the meeting of the City Council Friday evening the Board of Commissioners of Tower Grove Park submitted its annual report. The receipts were shown to be as follows: Appropriation from city, $50,000; rent superintendent's house, $441; coupons, $2,461.94; interest on deposits, $53,96; total, $53,282.90. Total expenditures, $25,597.90. Balance, $26,665.41.

The board recommended provision for evening concerts and for the proper lighting of the portions of the park occupied by the orchestra. Floral attractions have been planned for the coming season and there is need for additional drainage facilities. The board is ready to order the incorporation of the unimproved 200-foot strip surrounding the park in the park as soon as they are properly authorized to do so.

REAL ESTATE

Cold Weather Has a Depressing Effect-Agents' Reports.

The effects of the cold weather are becoming apparent in the real estate market and the building business. The real estate sales have fallen off considerably since the beginning of the present cold snap and the building interests are completely paralysed. But few permits are being taken out, as the weather is such as to prevent any work in the building line being done, except inside finishings on fine residences. The building permits for several months past have been much heavier than for 'dhe corresponding months of the preceding year. The Building Commissioner's report for January, 1886, shows what an influence the weather has. His report shows that permits were issued for 182 structures during the past month to cost 544,800, against 230 for January, 1894, at an estimated cost of 3675,300. The architects have plenty of work on hand. AGENT'S REPORTS.

NATURALIZATION PAPERS.

Some Adverse Criticism of Judge Mac-Adam's Ruling.

Adam's Ruling.

The refusal of Judge MacAdam of the Superior Court of New York to naturalize anyone on the ground that the United States courts should do this and his action in having a court officer tear up the naturalization papers of John J. Kelly, related in the telegraphic dispatches, were subjects of adverse comment by the bar and bench of this city. Judge Withrow, whose opinion on the original position of Judge MacAdam was asked by a Post-Dispatch reporter, said: "It seems to me a Judge should execute the law as he finds it, not as he thinks it might be. The States gave the Congress the exclusive right of enacting naturalization laws. The Congress has designated United States Circuit and District Courts of the United States, the Circuit and Supreme Courts of the Territories and all courts of record having common law jurisdiction in any of the States as the proper tribunals to grant naturalization papers. The Congress had the right to impose this duty upon these courts. How, then, can a Judge refuse to give justice in this more than in other matters? He should do his duty or resign."

The dozen fortunes of from $12,000,000 to $20,000,000 made by each of the men who have managed the Pacific railroads are loud witnesses against the plunderers of the Government.

The railroads paid out for operating expenses last year, it is said, $100,000,00 less than in the previous year. How much was the reduction in legislative and court expenses?

The name of the Massachusetts tax dodger who at last, stirred by a persiste conscience, has sent $2,000 to the Lynn treasury, is unknown, but his example is a good one. The dodging on persons property taxation in the United States is corrupting and is the cause of great injustice to poor men.

The superintendent of one of the local street carlines in descanting on the beauties of the V-shaped wheel guard as a life-saver, said it would save nearly all persons except small children. The lives of small children are of small conse quence to big corporations, but the peo-ple want fenders that will not make an exception of their little ones.

Senator Thurston's emphatic declara-tion of his hope that the McKiniey law will be re-enacted may be intended to distract public attention from his great services as a railroad attorney. Railroad injustice, however, is no worse than the injustice of McKinleyism. The two are merely different forms of robbery.

It is now more than four years since Mr. Harrison's Secretary of the Treasury rangements with the bankers, and to-day Secretary Carlisle has an agent in New York on precisely the same errand. Neither of the great parties seems capaole of managing the finances of the Go

THE FREDER BILL ASSURED.

The managers of the local street rail-ways yielded to the inevitable, and announced at the hearing of the Council Railroad Committee yesterday that they would not oppose the fender bill. This is a sensible attitude, which shows that they appreciate the force of the tremendous public sentiment which has been aroused on the subject.

There being no objection on the part of the railroads to the measure, there is nothing the way of making it law as speedily as possible. The only point to be determined is the length of time to be allowed the Board of Public Improve-

PROFOUND SILLINESS.

The Republicans of the Missouri Hous spent several hours yesterday debating the question of whether or not boys shall pe arrested and fined for smoking cigarettes, and children who are sent purchase tobacco for others shall be liaole to punishment for misdemeanor.

The debate on this great issue of legis lation has followed the adoption of a law making base-ball playing on Sunday a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $50. Stacks of bills to regulate the conduct of Missourians and to legislate them into a state of plety, according to the distates of the iron-bound consciences and narrow prejudices of a few self-con stituted censors of public manners and norals, are awaiting discussion and decision by the Republican Sanhedrim Meanwhile matters of great pith and moment that concern justice and the public welfare rest coldly in the pigeon noles of committees, carefully watche and tended by corporation lobbyists.

Is this the boasted outcome of Republican victory? Was it to change the Legislature into a rustic debating society and the great State of Missouri into parish school that the voters turned from Democracy to Republicanism? Does the Republican party propose to go before the people asking for an enlargement and extension of power on a record of pro

The Democratic party has shown a discouraging incapacity to meet some of the difficulties of the Government, but it is hard to determine how much of this is chargeable to lack of wisdom and how much to the monstrous evils of Republican misrule and corruption. It requires extraordinary capacity for reform on the part of the Democrats to offset the extraordinary capacity for bad legslation developed by the Republicans during their long lease of power.

The names of the Congressmen who vote for Mr. Huntington's schemes will be noted in every part of the country, because there have been sundry vile ininuations that many of the members of the Congress now in session, having been retired in the fall elections, may be readily bought. Perhaps the people making these insinuations have never read that Mr. Huntington once testified that he had given instructions to his people never to use any money in any immora or illegal sense, but to bring only proper influences to bear to get votes. The very large sums of money used in Washington in his interest Mr. Huntington shows to have been expended in explaining to Congressmen who knew nothing about failroads, and who seemed almost incarelation to them. Two of the gentle-men employed by him to do this explain-ting paid out something like $560,600 in making matters clear to our statesmen. In 1874 Mr. Huntington wrote that the coming session of Congress would be composed of the hungriest set of men that ever got tompthes. that ever got together, and in 1878 he tound a Congress made up of a wild set of demagogues of whom he quite depaired. Should it prove, however, that the outgoing Congress is too stupid to understand Mr. Huntington, the extra session of the new Congress, as soon as the little matter of the currency is attended to, may promptly come to his relief. In a case before a Welsh magistrate recently there were two women and two men. One of the men had married both women, and one of the women had married the two men. The woman who married the two men was not punished, for her first marriage was with a married man whose wife was still alive, making the marriage no marriage, but the man who married the two wives was held for bigamy.

INDEPENDENCE THE BALT OF POLI-To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The general corruption which has characterized our national, State and municipal politics of recent years has not been without its lessons to an intelligent people. It has created a tendency upon the part of the popular vote to independence in the matter of approval or disapproval of men and principles, irrespective of party affiliations Our politics have been characterised by a too rigid adherence to party, rather than to firm, stanch principles, which make for pure sound government. Party interests should be made a secondary consideration when the welfare of a Government and nation are dependant on the voice of the people. We welcome this move towards independence of ballot and believe it will eventually work the purification of both parties.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Feb. 2.—There has been arrested here a daring young desperado. His name is Frankie Hafey, 9 years old and wearing knickerbockers. He organised a band of highwaymen composed of ragged street urchins. Many New Britain children have been robbed by them. Ralph Boyd, aged 13, who delivers milk for a farmer, was held up by Hafey and four of his gang, none of them over 10 years old. They took his money and disappeared in the woods. Hafey broke into and robbed the New Britain depot four times. A week ago he entered the Lyceum Theater and stole $25 from the safe. He broke into several country churches, stole the communion sets and sold them to a pawnbroker. He broke into nearly every grocery store here, stole all the money in the drawers, then turned the kerosene and molasses barrel faucats on, flooding the places. Young Hafey, alias "Bill Cook," alias "Baby Bill," and James Duffy, alias "Jesse James," were captured last night in the meat shop of Andrews, Swift & Co., riffing the money drawer.

Duffy, who is 8 years old, was allowed to go home, while Hafey will be sent to the Connecticut School for boys.

A LOST SON.

Charles A. Taylor, the Playwright, Disappoints a Father.

George A. Taylor, residing at 719 O'Fallon street, who recently thought that he had discovered in the person of Mr. Charles A. Taylor, the author of "The Derby Mascot," his long-lost sos, who disappeared from home about ten years ago, has been forced to admit that he was mistaken.

Mr. George A. Taylor is a pattern-maker, by 'trade, and 'for a number of years has been in the employ of the Fulton Iron Works, in this city.

A few days ago, while passing along the street, he noticed a lithograph of Mr. Charles A. Taylor, which advertised him as the author of "The Derby Mascot," which play was then being produced in this city. He claims that the features, as well as the name, were identical with those of his long-lost son. He at once went to the theater where the son was playing, firmly convinced that a reunion would take place between than and sis child. He found, however, that the playwright had gone to New York; but information regarding him, furnished by members of the company, only tended to strengthen his belief that the author was his son. He at once wrote to his son's New York address, telling him how giad he was at having found him, and beging him to write at once, saying that his mother awaited him with open arms.

downcast. They had made up their minds that the playwright was really their longilost son, and were anxiously awaiting a reply to the letter sent to him a few days ago by Mr. Taylor. In the face of the author's statement, however, they came to the conclusion that they had been mistaken, and said that they would continue to hunt for their missing son.

then, they have never heard anything defin-ite about him. When he left home, he was about 23 years old. Shortly after his disap-pearance, his parents changed their resi-dence, and they think that he must have written to them, but that the letters never reached their destination.

WHY THE TEETH DECAY.

To the exclusive use of white bread is attributed the prevailing decay of the teeth As fluorine is necessary to good teeth, and as this is a characteristic component of the wheat discarded in making flour, a noted foreign scientist sees no hope in the way of good teeth for future generations except by a return to the general consumption of bread made from whole-wheat flour.

ENLARGING THE GERMAN NAVY. ENLARGING THE GERMAN NAVY.
The German Government proposes, if the build a first-class cruiser and three secondclass cruisers. At present the German navy does not comprise any first-class cruisers.

The one now proposed to be built will have a displacement of from 7,500 to 9,000 tons, and will he heavily armed with quick-firing guns. The new second-class German cruisers will be of the Geffan type, but it expected they will develop better seagoing qualities. They will carry quick-firing guns.
The German Government also proposes to build eight torpedo boats.

The farmers of Bradley County, Tennessee, thought they had a fortune in the phosphate beds discovered there recently, because alumina was present. Experiments proved that it would cost $3 to produce $1 worth of either alumina or phosphate, so they returned to their plows.

CARDS SUPERSEDING NOTE PAPER.

From the London Graphic. It is a satisfactory thing that cards are ding note-paper for corresp superseding note-paper for correspondence. In the first place they are easier to writ upon, and in the second place they limit the length of the communication. A card will contain quite as much as you want to hea from anyone, and probably a great desmore than anyone wants to hear from you Besides this, in an age when everybody talk about being economical—especially those who are the most extravagant—the correspondence card will be found to be a great saying.

NEW METHOD OF GLASS STAINING NEW METHOD OF GLASS STAINING.
Albert Post of Halbstadt, Germany, has discovered a process for silvering glass so that it reflects the image when looked at from one side, and when looked at from the other is transparent as ordinary glass. If this be glazed in a dwelling window, for instance, anyone inside can see all that is going on in the street, while anyone looking at the window will see only a mirror light, and nothing inside of it. It thus avoids the annoyance sometimes encountered in glaing either clear window—glass or ground glass, in combining the advantages of both.

OVERTHE VETO

Eighteenth Street Widening Bill Passed by the House.

Speaker Townsend's Signature Will Make It a Law.

PROPERTY TO BE COMDEMNED AND THE COST TO THE CITY.

President McMath Figures That It Will Be About $64,000-Who the Owners Are-Special Commissioners Will Be Appointed by the Court.

Bighteenth street, between Clark avenue and Pine street is to be widened forty feet, thus making the width of the street for that distance 100 feet. The ordinance providing for its widening has now passed both houses of the Municipal Assembly over the Mayor's veto and only awaits the signatures of President Nagel of the Council and Speaker Townsend of the House to become a law. These will probably be affixed to the bill at the next regular meeting in the presence of the members of the Assembly. Should either of these gantiemen be absent the bill would be signed by the President or Speaker pro tem.

stither of these gentlemen be absent the bill would be signed by the President or Speaker pro tem.

The widening of Elighteenth street will be the first of the needed improvements about the Union Station. While it will not add to the beauty of the neighborhood as would the widening of Market street, it will be a big and a much-needed improvement. Elighteenth street is but 60 feet wide. It is the approach to one of the main bridges between the North and South Sides of town and, begides being obliged to carry a large amount of wagon traffic, carries two lines of street cars. With two street car tracks on which cars of one of these lines is passing either north or south every two minutes, the widening of the street became a necessity. This is the reason given for passing the ordinance over the Mayor's veto.

COST OF WIDENING.

While the estimated cost of widening the street is, according to the statement of President McMath of the Board of Public Improvements, but a big guess until the commissioners have made their report, the estimate made places the cost of the improvement at £250,000. President McMath says that in figuring out the proportion of this which should be assessed to the city it was estimated that it would be about three-eighths of the entire sum, or about $63,750. The property to be condemned consists of vacant property in the rear of the House of the Good Shepherd, between Pine and Chestnut streets; property belonging to Col. Ed Butler between Chestnut and Market, and property belonging to the Excelsion Brewing Co. between Market and Clark avenue.

On Col. Butler's property there is a build-and property belonging to the Excelsion Brewing Co. between Market and Clark avenue.

On Col. Butler's property there is a building. Up to a few weeks ago this building was a tumbled-down brick affair which in days gone by had been used for a blacksmith shop. It became so foul within, being unused, and the resort of tramps and street gamins, that it was ordered renovated by the Health Department. After partially renovating it, partitions were placed inside, openings cut to the street and glass fronts put in, and some of the little shops rented. On the corner a saloon entrance was put in with mirrors on each side. Only a few of these little sooms have been rented, although Col. Butler told some of the officials that he had an offer of $7,000 a year for the place.

On part of the land of the Excelsior Brewing Co. is a cheap stable and a warehouse, neither of them expensive huildings. In many respects the widening of Eighteenth street, it is claimed, would be a great benefit to the brewery, so that the work of the commissioners in adjusting the damages will not, it is thought, be a difficult task. COMMISSIONERS TO BE APPOINTED. As soon as the bill shall have been signed by the presiding officers of the Council and House it will be referred to the City Counselor, who will bring condemnation proceedings; the commissioners will be appointed and the work will be under way. It will take about a year to finish these proceedings, and it will, therefore, be that long before the street can be widened.

Carl Richter, the well-known music professor, organist and patentee of a street car fender, was arrested Friday about 7 p. m. in front of the Four Courts on the charge of disturbing the peace of a Union Depot street car conductor, to whom he had refused to pay his fare, because of the want of fire in the car, was arraigned before Judge Morris at 19:20 a. m. and on the application of his attorney, Henry Wamhoff, a continuance until February 8 was granted. Prof. Richter lives at 408 Connecticut avenue, which is on the route of the Tower Grove branch of the Union Depot line. He has patented a street car fender, and strange to say, Mr. John Soullen, proprietor of the road to which the professor has taken objection, has passed favorably upon the fender. This was done several days ago. Last evening he and a former master-workman of the St. Louis car shops boarded a Tower Grove car on Sixth and Washington avenue, intending to visit the American Car Foundry in the Southern part of the city to exhibit his fender-model. There was no fire in the car and when they reached Seventh and Pine streets, Prof. Richter claims the conductor, after they had protested about the cold, advised them to catch another car. They got off and waited for another Tower Grove car, which they boarded and found equally as barren of fire as the other.

The conductor demanded the fare for the two and Prof. Richter claimed that he offered to pay the money if the fire was started. The conductor kicked, but hauled Mr. Richter as far as the Four Courts where he had him arrested.

The English Department of Labor, which was established only recently, says the commissioner, is now publishing very successfully, and will get acceptance by the industrial interests of the country, a labor gazette. The French Department of Labor does the same thing, and so, too, does that of New Zealand, and now the Russian Government, which has recently established a department of labor, is publishing a gasette. "It would seem right." the letter continues, "that the United States, which has been the pioneer of labor departments in the world, should publish a bulletin. This would have been done before, I presume, had it not been for the suggestion that such bulletins should contain information relative to the lack of labor in different parts of the country. I believe that all now agree that such announcements from an official source would do more harm than good, and therefore the movement has not taken shape, but the publication contemplated avoids this particular, and to my mind objectionable feature of the bulletin, and with this objection removed I think it would be greatly to the interests of the industries of this country that such a bulletin should be established."

BRITISH LION'S TAIL

RUTLEDGE DIVORCE.

The Plaintiff Ordered to Pay His Wife

"What's that, my dear," said Aunty Greer,
"Because Fred's poor must you be fickle?
You have no pluck! Just trust to luck,
Hold on to Fred and see McNichol!"
"But Aunty Greer-you think it queer
I've beard folks say, it isn't funny
To start in life as man and wife
When neither of the twain have money."

"Not funny, no—I grant 'tis so— Without this money life grows harder; And I've a notion love's devotion Alone has never filled the larder; But tell your Fred, that you'll be wed, Speak like a woman—strong, not meekly, Remember, dear, McNichol's here. Buy all you need for payments weekly."

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The Marquis of Lorne has written a long article, which appears in the Pall Mail Gazette this afternoon on Pope's life of Sir John MacDonald. The Marquis says the author will find that all he has said in praise of Sir John A. MacDonald to be "echoed by all of us who knew him."

In the course of this article the Marquis of Lorne remarks: "English statesmen fear that the Yankee is always longing to twist that much twisted thing, the lion's tail; but only a 'newspaper masher' writes in that tone and the Canadians, knowing this desire, hold their own and carry their chins as high as they like. Like the fishery question for instance. Canada knows the value of the fisheries and desires to insist on a fair bargain with the United States on that basis of recognition of value. Great Britain is apt to want her half value when the bargaining is being done for something that England thinks of international importance. As one of the plenipotentiaries at Washington Sir John A. MacDonald had to constantly combat these tendencies, notably shown by the Marquis of Ripon, who was as much inclined to yield to the Americans as he was afterwards anxious to surrender to the Bengal newspapers in India and to Fenian threats in Ireland."

Without this money life grows harder; And I've a notion love's devotion alone has never filed the larder; But tell your Fred, that you'll be week. Speak like a wonan—strong, not meekly. Renember, dear, McNichol's here. But tell your Fred, that you'll be week. Speak like a wonan—strong, not meekly. Renember, dear, McNichol's here. But tell your Fred, that you'll be week. jority party's dignity, he went quite to pleces, and the wicked Democrats present wrought their will with him. The cigarette bill had been up all the afternoon, and a sort of anti-tobacco convention was being held when Davison of Butler county projected an offering charged with high explosive buncombe. It was in the form of an amendment to the pending measure, and provided that any person smoking in public shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. He moved the previous question and the ayes and nays were demanded by other wags. The acting Speaker ordered the roll-call on the previous question. It was carried, and then the Speaker declared the amended measure sent to engrossment. Of course the very pages on the floor knew that this was an error, but the chance was exactly what the clowns of the House had been watching for all afternoon, and they made the most of it. A dozen members were on their feet at once shouting for attention, and several left their seats and randown the aisle, shaking their fists at the Chair, and denouncing his ruling as criminal stupidity. They knew quite well that the Speaker would take everything back if they paused for an instant, as he had done so a score of times during the day; but this was not to their purpose. They remained upon their feet and poured a perfect avalanche of conflicting protests, motions, substitutes and amendments over the heals of the clerks, until poor Mueller was plucking his beard and roaching his hair in helpless ignorance of the parliamentary break, and the House getting wilder and more unruly every minute. Once, twice, thrice, was the tangle straightened out, only to be immediately established again and on more perplexing lines than before, until Mueller's incapacity for the place that nobody else wanted was indisputably established. At one time Mueller entertained, put, and declared carried, a motion to adjourn was not carried." Twenty Democrats tried to complicate the situation still further by retiring to the lobby to break the quorum, but, not succeeding JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 2.—The House this morning repudiated the Democratic Tribune, which is being laid on the desks of the Representatives gratis, and, by a resolution, ordered the Republican Courier to obtain and print the Senate proceedings, according to contract. It has not been able to secure the Sepate official proceedings, and probably will not be, and the order contained in the second resolution will either be a dead letter or will work an abrogation of the contract.

The elections committee reported favorably bills absolving candidates from including hotel bills and traveling expenses from their returns under the corrput-practices act, and repealing that section of the law governing the printing of tickets, which compels parties poling less than 3 per cent of the vote at the last general election to nominate by petition. All parties and factions making regular pominations would, under the latter measure, be allowed to have them on the ballot under the headings similar in form to those of the regular parties.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 2.-When JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 2.—when the House committee on private corpora-tions adjourned on Thursday night, it was given out that the subcommittee appointed to draft a substitute for all of the pending measures was prepared to report a bill giv-ing towns of 25,000 and under telephones for an annual rental of $55, and towns over that population for $50; but the bill has not yet hem reported.

Representative Buckner, who will, doubtless, lead the fight for cheaper telephones, on the floor, is greatly puzzled by the tactles of the committee, and does not know whether to indorse or to score it. He is members on the committee who are willing

Senator Mott, of the committee appointed sarily in the week to visit the Boonville Reform School for Boys. Futured last even the same sensor has been conducted, and gives it as his opinion that the Boonville school is more. Mr. Mott is enthusiastic in his commen. Mr. Mott is enthusiastic in his commen, and the public institution the State than any other public institution the State than any other public institution the State than any other public institution. He finds that the Superitude of the same sensor in the public institution the State than any other public institution of the State than any other publi to report before calling the attention of the House to what he believes to be the fact.

Senator Mott, of the committee appointed early in the week to visit the Boonville Reform School for Boys, returned last evening. Senator Lancaster, Senator Lyman and Senator Seaber went direct to their homes. Mr. Mott is enthusiastic in his commendation of the manner in which this school has been conducted, and gives it as his opinion that the Boonville school is of far more real value to the State than any other public institution—irrespective of appropriation. He finds that the Superintendent, Lyman D. Drake, is one of the best allaround men for such a position that the State has ever had. He is a practical brickmaker and brick-layer, a good plumber, and a handy man with tools of almost any kind. He is an athlete, and his field feats have done much to win him the respect and confidence of his wards—by the older of whom he is addressed as "Brother." He manages his worst boys without recourse to close confinement, and teaches them morals and manners, beside giving them a thorough ground-work in the common branches and making competent and practical mechanics of them, according to their bent. As an example of what the boys of the school have been taught, Mf. Mott mentions the construction of a splendid brick residence and a fine brick barn, for the home stock, at insignificant cost. The barn cost the State just $1,000, and one of the members of the Senate, who has seen it, states that he will gladly pay $4,000 to have it duplicated on his ferm. This is but one example of the improvements that are constantly being made in the Home place, and Mr. Mott says that has never seen public money so judiciously used. The improvements on the place is estimates at $75,000 taxable valuation, and they have cost the State less than $40,000.

Unexpected Answer From an Audience of Sunday-School Children.

Tom P. Morgan in February Harper.

"Waal—er—hem"—children." began Col. Handy Polk, the well-known real estate, loan and insurance agent of Oklahoma, who had wandered into a Sunday-school and been invited by the superintendent to address the children, "I didn't come yere with the expectation of makin' a speech, but now that I've been called on, I'll say a few words on the—er—sh—beauties of honesty and—er—truth. Honesty is the best policy. Alwers be honest, children, and alwers be truthful. As—er—er—What's-his-name truly said, an honest man is the—er—er—noblest work of God. And a truthful man is better than—er—ah—many sparrers. Alwers remember that, children, If everybody was honest, what a different world this would be! But, alas! they hain't. Instead, the generality of mankind in—er—ah—general is forever tryin' to get the better of the—er—er—generality of mankind in—er—ah—generalis to to speak. From this we should learn—should learn, as it were, to—er—be honest. But I'll tell you a little story to sorter illustrate my meanin'. Once on a time thar was a boy whose parents were poor, but honest, and tried to raise him up in the—er—way he should go. But he wouldn't obey 'em, and seemed to take delight in doin' wrong. He began stealin' little things when he was no higher than the table, and 'peared to prefer to lie when the truth would have done jest as well, or even better. He grew worse and worse as time passed on, and by the time he had grown to be a man he had become a regular out-and-out sequence to prefer to lie when the truth would have done jest as well, or even better. He grew worse and worse as time passed on, and by the time he had grown to be a man he had become a regular out-and-out sequence to prefer to lie when the colonel's innocent hearers answered, in one voice:

"He now stands before us."

tricity to Be Used in a Novel Sche chicago.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 2—If the City Council will permit, a novel experiment will be made in the swift transportation of malf from the post-office to the Illinois Central station at Tweifth street, one mile distant. Richard B. Sherman, the inventor of the system proposes to erect an overhead, or, rather, an over-roof, electrical conveyance that will carry a seventy-five-pound mail pouch from the roof of the post-office to the station in only five minutes. If now takes twenty-two minutes to transport the mail to the station by wagon. The conveyor is similar to the one outside of the Transportation Building on the World's Fair grounds, except that it is to be operated by electricity, a wire answering to the trolley-wire on a street-car system furnishing the power to the carriage in which is inclosed the mail pouch.

Mr. Sherman has secured the consent of the property-owners to the erection of a temporary overhead road, which consists of four or five wires.

he Milkmen Claim to Have Discov ered a Swindle.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 2.—The Omaha milk-men claim to have just found that they have been swindled by a shrewd device of a cereal mill here. The mill, it is alleged, has been grinding up corncobs and selling them for bran. This sort of bran costs $200 per car load, while the real bran costs $300. The milk-men here have been puzzled by the small amount of milk produced by their cows since this bran was placed on the market a month

Twenty Times.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 2.—Six boys, ranging in age from 9 to 19 years, have been arrested here for stealing gloves from the front of the Union Mercantile Co.'s store. Every one of the lads has served several terms in the county jall, and Arthur O'Dell, the leader, is 12 years old and has been in jall twenty times. The six boys were linked together, and, like a string of sausages, were marched to Justice Spitz's court, where they were each sentenced to sixty days in jall.

Chris Von Der Ahe is the unluckiest of all the baseball magnates. The world looks rosy to him on days when he escapes some new trouble, says the Washington Post, At present he has on his hands a property suit by his son, Eddle, a divorce and allmony suit by his wife, the hot end of an attachment suit with George W. and Earl Wagner, a suit for false imprisonment and damages by Pitcher Mark Baidwin, and the continued litigation in Cincinnatt over the Pendleton ball grounds. He is now threatened with a legislative bill to stop Sunday ball playing in Missouri. If this bill should pass baseball in fast company would be a thing of the past in St. Louis, for the attendance on Sunday is what has enabled the club to meet expenses for the past three cr four years.

expenses for the past three cr four years.

The Cleveland Club lost Pitcher Wilson because it did not file a claim for him, as required by the League's constitution. McAleer, acting as agent for the Cleveland Club, secured the consent of the Pottsville Club to do business with the young twirler. Terms were agreed on, and Manager Tebeau hugged the delusion that he had landed one of the pitching finds of the season. No notification was forwarded to Mr. Young and Boston stepped in, signed Wilson, and complying with the provisions of the League's laws, requested President Young to promulgate his engagement.

If indications count for anything there will be at least one more Eastern team playing Sunday ball this acason. Andy Freedman has succeeded in getting absolute control of the New York team, and it is more than likely they will be in the money-making scheme. It is a well-known fact that the Jewish people have no conscientious scruples against turning an honest dollar, whether it be made on Sunday or any other

A. G. Spalding, the newly elected President of the National Board of Trade of Cycle Manufacturers, in speaking of the objects of the board, said to a Chicago reporter: "It is not the intention to attempt to control or regulate prices, discounts or wages, and it is no sense a combination trust or monopoly, but simply a national coard-of trade, composed of all the larger and smaller manufacturers, who units together for mutual benefit and to atimulate, encourage and promote an interest in cycling. The Board of Trade will in no way antagrouse the League of American Wheelmen, but will work in entire harmony with it, and will in no way attempt to usurp any of its functions, for we recognise that the L. A. W. Is the popular and representative body and the proper one to conduct and ignisiate for the sport of cycling and its great and growing army of individual cycle riders.

Entries to the Fair Association's spring Stake Events Closed.

Entries to the stake events of the spring meeting at the Fair Grounds closed Friday, but all communications containing entries that the Postal Department marks show were mailed Feb. 1 will be accepted by the association. Numerous horsemen delay making their nominations until the last minute. Especially is this the case with the California owners, who will be heard from; in batches during the coming week. Assistant Secretary Hoffmeister is already at work assorting the entries, and after waiting a reasonable period for the stragglers, the lists will be made public. A large number of nominations were received this morning from all over the country. According to information from New Orleans, William P. Magrane, the St. Louis bookmaker-owner, will race his string at the Fair Grounds this season. If this is true, the local turfites will have an opportunity to see Magrane's pair of prospective great 3-year-olds, Frank K. and Montre, perform. Frank K is one of the favorites in the winter books for both the National and Chicago derbys. All of Magrane's cracks are entered at Chicago, but the chances are that he will also go after the big money at the Fair Grounds. This will be possible on account of the arrangement between the Turf Congress tracks, which prevents a clashing on the big stake races.

There are two Little Nells, two Altairs and doubles of several horses racing at Madison, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. Thursday, in the first race at this track, Little Nell was carded to start. As Little Nell had won a good race a few days previous the speculators jumped to the conclusion that the rooms were out of line and began to play her. jumped to the conclusion that the rooms were out of line and began to play her. Money was fairly shoveled into the windows on her. She was played across the board and the rooms stood to lose a King's ransom. Just before they got off word came over the wire that it was Little Nelly, and not Little Nell, that was to run. "What kind of a track is that they have at Madison?" said one disgusted follower of Little Nell. "Why most of the horses down there seem to have understudies. There ought to be enough names in this wide world to go clear around without two and sometimes three horses taking the same cognomen. The nomenclature of the turf on all the tracks needs a nice, thorough scrubbing."

H. D. McIntyre denies the report that Messrs. Carr and McLaughlin, of the old Guttenberg confederacy, will secure a controlling interest in the St. Asaph race track. Mr. McIntyre, J. M. Hill and "Doc" Kirk control 75 per cent of the track, and the other 25 per cent is owned by Thomas F. Eagon. "If the latter should part with his stock to Carr and McLaughlin," says Mr. McIntyre, "the transfer need give no uneasiness to friends of high-class racing. The management of affairs will still remain in the hands of Messrs. Hill, Kirk and myself, as holders of 75 per cent of the stock, and you may be sure that there will be no breaking away from Jockey Club rules or running the races on the old Guttenberg plan."

Barney Schrieber's consistent gray horse, Braw Scott, won his eleventh victory at San Francisco Friday, which is the best record of any horse at the present Bay District track meeting. In addition to his numerous victories, Braw Scott has finished second several times and his earnings for his St. Louis owner amount to considerable over 16,000. For a horse that cost him but $500, Braw Scott certainly has been a profitable investment for Schrieber. Braw Scott is a grey gelding by imp, Midlothian, dam Helen Scratch, and he was bred at Rancho del Passo. On account of his gameness and consistency, the grey fellow is the popular idol of the San Francisco race track frequenters.

Hand in Spite of Things.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 2.—It has been discovered that C. P. Huntington, the Southern Pacific magnate, has religious beliefs. The information became known through Rev. M. V. Donaldson, superintendent of the St. Pawl's Mission Church of this city. The doctrine taught at St. Paul's consists mainly in the belief that the millennium is near at hand. No definite date is agreed upon for its arrival, but some time in the year 1896 seems to be the favorite. According to Rev. Donaldson, Mr. Huntington subscribes to the belief, and for the past ten years has given sums ranging from 1300 to 1700 for the benefit of the church. He has written many letters himself warmly recommending the work of the church, which the pastor shows with much pride.

TABOR'S FIRST WIFE.

Her Death at Los Angeles Recalls Old Scandal.

DENVER, Colo, Feb. 2—The death of Mrs. Augusta Tabor, first wife of ex-Senator Tabor at Los Angeles, Cal., yesterday, recalls a sensational story in which she was a central figure. She married Tabor when he was a poor miner at Leadville. After the Little Pittsburg strike in 1879, which made him two millions, he and his wife moved to, Denver. There he became infatuated with Miss. McCourt of Oshkosh, who was visiting here. She liked him and Tabor decided to put his wife out of the way se he could marry Miss McCourt. Mrs. Tabor refused to separate, and was sued for a divorce, her husband alleging incompatibility. Three trials resulted in a verdict for the wife, and then a compromise was effected, Mrs. Tabor taking 1175,000 worth of property and their only child. Tabor took his second wife to the United States Senate with him, but when he returned to Denver was ostracised. He lost money and made an assignment. His wife prospered and to-day her son owns the better half of Capitol Hill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—The benefits derived from the summer institutes for Indian school employes held last summer has led the Indian Bureau to decide to continue these meetings during the next season. It will be impracticable to hold more than three institutes, and these, it is expected, will be held in some portion of each of three districts—Oktahoma Territory, South Dakota and Washington State. A large number of government school employes will be reached by the Oklahoma institute, including a number of schools of Kansas. South Dakota will probably be selected on account of its advantagous location for many day school teachers of the Rosebud, Pine Ridge, Standing Rock, Cheyenne River, Crow Creek and Lower Brule, Utes, Santee and Tankton agencies, besides many from Nebrasita, North Dakota, Wisconsin and Minnesota, the latter being close enough to further stimulate the favorable feeling towards Indian education is state created among the people there ast year. Both Washington and Oregon re practically open to proposals for the education of Indians in their public schools, which will doubtless have its weight in he selection of the former state.

PAULINE HALL'S TEMPER.

Few Words About Mr. Broderick.

Few Words About Mr. Broderick.
On Friday afternoon William Broderick, baritone, announced to the world that he had severed his connection with the Fauline Hail Opera Company. On Friday night, William Broderick, baritone, received one of the worst lambastings that a man could possibly get from the tongue of an angry woman. This woman was none other than the buxom, black-eyed Pauline Hail herself, and the way in which she ripped up the character of the long-legged comicopera mock trageddan was a beautiful sample of tongue pyrotechnics.

Inasmuch as Mr. Broderick had stated that the reason for his depriving the "Dorcas" company of his talents was that he could not get along peaceably with Manager George McClelland, the prima donna's husband, a visit was paid to the Grand Opera-House last night by a representative of the Post-Dispatch to discover the exact causes of the disagreement. Mr. McClelland having left the city, it devolved upon his wife, Miss Hall, to answer in his name.

The last act of "Dorcas" was just drawing to a close, when the star was found, with just a moment to spare before taking-her cue.

"I don't know that I ought to say any-to a close, when the star was found, with just a moment to spare before taking her cue.

"I don't know that I ought to say anything," she began, her eyes snapping ominously. "My husband is away, and Mr. Broderick's remarks were aimed at him. I am afraid he will be angry with me; but, as long as Mr. Broderick has begun, I willoh, excuse me," she broke off with, upon hearing her cue, and she rushed away.

In a moment, the curtain was down, and she returned, ready to speak her mind.

"I have been in the business twelve years," she said, "and never yet have I ever talked about any one in print; but I will say this about Broderick, and you can put it in the newspapers as coming from me—that he is a bully and a coward. That man is beneath contempt. The best fame you can give him is Bill Cook Broderick. He has insuited every woman in the company so grossly that scarcely any of them will speak to him. For months Mr. Bradshaw has not uttered a word to him.

"He gave us trouble from the very day we engaged him. After my husband signed him, in September, we found every one telling what a disagreeable fellow he was, and we soon discovered that it was true. He was surly and insulting most of the time, especially to the ladies in the company.

"In Hot Springs, we were rehearsing for the benefit of Mr. Michelens, and Broderick refused to do his work right. Mr. Mc-Clelland spoke to him about it and, when he "In Hot springs, we were rehearsing for the benefit of Mr. Michelena, and Broderick refused to do his work right. Mr. Mc-Cleiland spoke to him about it and, when he declined to mend his waya he was given his notice. His actions in Hot Springs were only the consummation of a series of a hundred just like them.

"I want him to know what I think of him. When we were at the Cave, last summer, he insulted a chorus girl, and she slapped his face. So, you can see what kind of a man he is.

"I wasn't going to say anything about the matter at all; but, as long as he has commenced it, here's the whole truth. He's brought it on himself."

And with that, Miss Hall, who, now that she had given vent to her feelings, feit better, dimpled up her' cheeks with a smile, and bade the newspaper man good-night.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 2.—Peter Hansen, a milkman, is in jail, charged with maltreating his family, and, if all that is charged against him is true, he is little less than a fiend. His arrest was made on complaint of neighbors. According to them, Hansen took his little 12-year-old daughter by each cheek and threw her across the room. After that he made her take off her shoes and stockings and ordered her out of the house. She walked through the snow bare footed to the house of a neighbor two blocks away. Hansen is also charged with having struck his wife over the head with a bridle, the steel bit of which cut a gash three inches long. She fied with several children from the house, screaming with the pain and fright. He is also accused of kicking one of his little boys in the mouth and knocking several of the teeth out. Although well-to-do, it is charged that Hansen compels his family to almost starve in order to make them come around to his commands.
